Mr. WILSON offered a resolution, that hereafter the Senate meet at 11 o'clock, which was taken up and passed.

Mr. GWIN moved to take up the Post Office bills, and asked a Committee of Conference. The House had limited the amount on the Senate amendment for the Overland Mail, to eight hundred thousand dollars.

Mr. LATHAM moved that the Senate concur in the House amendment.

One o'clock having arrived, the Tariff bill was taken up.

By consent, Vice-President BRECKINRIDGE presented the resolutions of the City Council of Boston in favor of the Crittenden resolutions, as a basis of adjustment.

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the Tariff bill.

Mr. SEWARD moved an amendment to reduce the duty on books, which was lost.

A large number of amendments of the Select Committee were adopted.

A discussion arose on the amendment of the Committee which lessens the duty on Sugar, and places a duty of four cents per pound on Tea, and a half a cent on Coffee.

Mr. DOOLITTLE offered a Proviso that the duty on Coffee and Sugar cease after the 30th June 1863, which was not agreed to—yeas 18, nays 20. The amendment was renewed excepting Sugar. Not agreed to.

Mr. POLK moved to strike out so much as applied to Tea and Coffee, but was not agreed to.

Mr. PEARCE reported from the Committee of Conference on the Executive and Legislative Appropriation bill, that the Committee had agreed. The report was agreed in by the Senate.

Adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

JOHN COCHRANE, from the Committee on Commerce, reported a bill appropriating $50,000 for the survey of Northern water-courses and islands of the Pacific ocean and Behring's Straits, in view of telegraphic communication from the mouth of the Amoor in Asia, to some point on the confines of the Russian Possessions. Referred to the Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union.

Mr. STANTON, from the Military Committee, reported a bill supplemental to the Acts of 1795 and 1817, providing for the calling forth of the militia for the execution of the laws of the Union, the suppression of insurrection and repelling invasion, so as to extend their provisions to the case of insurrection against the authority of the United States, and authorize the President, in cases where it may be lawful, to use the militia in addition to the army and navy; to accept the services of volunteers as Cavalry, Infantry, and Artillery, and officer the same.

Mr. BOCOCK said that if there is to be any hope of peace, it must be by the rejection of force bills.

Mr. Stanton said the bill merely supplied an omission in the one of '95.

Mr. BOCOCK objected to the second reading of the bill. Therefore the question arose, shall the bill be rejected?

The House decided in the negative, the vote being 68 against 110.

Nays.—Messrs. Adams, Mass., Adrian, Aldrich, Allen, Alley, Ashley, Babbitt, Brigham, Blair, Blake, Brayton, Briggs, Buffington, Burlingame, Burlingame, Burham, Butterfield, Campbell, Carey, Carter, Case, Colfax, Conkling, Conway, Corwin, Covode, Davis, Md., Dawes, Delano, Duell, Dunn, Edgerton, Edwards, Eliot, Ely, Farnsworth, Fenton, Foster, Frank, French, Graham, Grow, Gurley, Hale, Hall, Helmick, Hickman, Hoard, Howard, Mich., Hutchins, Irvine, Jenkin, Kellogg, Mich., Kellogg, Ill., Kilgore, Killinger, Leach, Mich., Lee, Longnecker, Loomis, Lovejoy, Marston, McKean, McKnight, McPherson, Montgomery, Morehead, Morrill, Morse, Nixon, Olin, Palmer, Perry, Pettit, Porter, Potter, Pottle, Robinson, R. I., Royce, Scranton, Sedgewick, Sherman, Som s, Spaulding, Spinner, Stevens, Steward, Pa., Stratton, Tappan, Thayer, Theaker, Tompkins, Train, Trimble, Vandeveer, Vanwyck, Wade, Waldron, Walton, Washburn, Wis., Washburne, Ill., Wells, Wilson, Windom, Wood, Woodruff—110.

Before the vote was announced, Mr. Sickles said, I shall vote to reject this bill, because I regard it as a distinct proposition for actual aggression upon the States. It is therefore in conflict with the principles which, as I have heretofore shown, controlled the founders of the Republic. I object to the bill also upon the same ground that I have protested against the organization of armies in the Gulf States for the purpose of attacking the possessions of the United States; besides, while the Peace Congress is sitting, it is premature to declare war.

Mr. FOUKE voted to reject the bill, because he was against civil war and shedding of fraternal blood.

Mr. BRIGGS said there was no such thing as peaceable secession. Secession is revolution, and revolution is war. As a portion of the Confederacy is in insurrection and rebellion against the Government, he would vote to invest the President with power to meet the present condition of things.

Mr. STANTON demanded the previous question on the passage of the bill, but no further action was now taken, the morning hour having expired.

The report of the Committee of Thirty-three was resumed.

Mr. WEBSTER was against secession. He trusted the Peace Conference will recommend some measure of adjustment. It can do no more. The responsibility was still on Congress, which could not escape it. His great object was to preserve the Union and the rights and liberties of all within the Union. He earnestly opposed the policy of force, which would drive the Southern States so far off as to preclude the possibility of re-union, and zealously advocated the better policy of conciliation, compromise, and peace, as an example illustrated in the conduct of those who achieved our independence and established the Constitution. He would accept any fair and just settlement of the Slavery question. Not the slightest advantage has resulted to any part of the country by the discussion of the subject but the evil of arraigning one section against the other. The vote this morning was a damper on his feelings, and somewhat obscured the hope which he had entertained of a final adjustment.

Mr. SHERMAN said if the property of the United States was allowed to remain in the hands of the Federal Officers, there would be no danger of a collision.

Mr. WEBSTER replied that he had nothing to do with the public property that he was aware of.

Mr. SHERMAN enquired whether the gentleman was not willing to defend the public property against all assaults.

Mr. WEBSTER replied that if precipitating measures in the defence of the public property would be more disastrous than a conciliatory course, he would not enforce the laws; but he did not despair of the Republic. If the peace propositions fail here, he would appeal to the justice and fraternity of the people of the North, believing they would patriotically respond and disregard all party ties for the sake of the Country.

On motion of Mr. SHERMAN, the consideration of the report was postponed till to-morrow in order to take up the bill that in place of any part of the loan now authorized by law, the President is authorized to issue bonds of the United States of the denomination of $50, bearing not exceeding six per centum interest, payable annually or semi-annually, at the discretion of the Secretary, and running not to exceed twenty years, and at his discretion attach the coupons for the interest thereon, and to apply such bonds at par to the payment of such creditors who may choose to receive them, provided the aggregate amount issued under this act, and the acts now in force authorizing the loan, shall not exceed the amount authorized by the said act.

Mr. SICKLES—I desire to ask the Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means whether the bill is not necessary to meet the accruing liabilities of the Government, and if it is not recommended by the Secretary of the Treasury?

Mr. SHERMAN—It is necessary. The only difference between our bill and that recommended by the Secretary is, that we reduce the denomination of the Treasury notes from one hundred to fifty dollars.

The bill passed.

Mr. GROW moved a suspension of the rules in order to take up the Senate bill organizing the Territorial Government of Colorado.

The bill having been read,

Mr. SICKLES said he was glad to see that gentlemen on the Republican side of the Chamber have abandoned the Wilmot Proviso in the organization of Territorial Governments. This removes an irritating element of contention.

The rules were suspended, 110 against 37.

Mr. GROW offered an amendment, by agreement with the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Territories, so as to make it conform to the pending bills for the establishment of Territorial Governments for Nevada and Dacotah. The proposed Territory of Colorado includes what remains after the erection of Kansas as a State, and a small portion of New Mexico and Nebraska, making about 104,000 square miles, with somewhere between forty-five and fifty thousand inhabitants, as many as Oregon had when she was admitted as a State.

Mr. GROW briefly showed the necessity of giving them a Government, as the only one they now have is the bowie-knife and rifle.

Mr. OTERO objected to the cutting up of New Mexico. The people proposed to be transferred to Colorado, do not desire to live under any Government save that of New Mexico. They are homogeneous.

Mr. COX wanted to introduce an amendment to make the Executive and Judicial officers elective, and said that the Republicans could now show the sincerity of their professions.

Mr. GROW's amendment was agreed to, and the bill passed—90 against 42.

Recess till 7 o'clock for promiscuous debate.

EVENING SESSION.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.—ALBANY, Feb. 18.

The bill to increase the salaries of all Deputies in the State Departments was reported adversely. Agreed to.

A message was received from the Assembly designating the Speaker of that body to receive President Lincoln, in consequence of the illness of the Lieut. Governor.

The President of the Senate pro tem., Mr. Lapham, declared that the resolution must lie over one day.

Mr. WARNER asked unanimous consent to consider the resolution now.

Mr. SESSIONS objected. He considered the message an insult to the Senate.

Mr. GRANT introduced a bill to repeal the Ninth avenue Railroad grant.

The order of the resolutions being reached, Mr. HILLHOUSE moved that the Speaker of the Assembly be designated to receive President Lincoln, in the absence of the Lieutenant Governor.

Mr. HAMMOND considered that the privilege belonged of right to the President pro tem. of the Senate.

A long debate ensued, during which Mr. Lapham, President pro tem. of the Senate, declared himself willing to abide by the decision of the Senate, but vindicated the right of the Senate to the position.

Mr. SPINOLA offered as a substitute that,

Whereas, An irrepressible conflict had arisen for the possession of the President-elect, between the rival factions of Republicanism, therefore

Resolved, That Mr. Lincoln be telegraphed to switch off at Schenectady and go to New York direct via Troy.

The whole subject was then laid on the table —12 to 10.

The Senate again took up the resolution designating Speaker Littlejohn to receive the President elect, and after a warm debate the resolution was adopted, designating Senator Colvin, Democrat, to perform that duty. The proceedings caused much excitement in the Chamber.

Adjourned.

ASSEMBLY.

Numerous resolutions were introduced relating to arrangements of the House during the reception of the President elect. Eventually the galleries were reserved exclusively for ladies, and the lower lobby for ladies and gentlemen accompanying them. A variety of resolutions were introduced, with an attempt to get ladies on the floor.

Mr. CALLAHAN moved that any member desiring to accommodate a lady may give his seat up to her.

The doors were ordered to be closed till a quarter before three, except for the admission of those entitled to the privileges of the floor and ladies accompanying them.

The bill to extend the jurisdiction of the Canal Appraisers, so as to secure the better relief of claimants, was reported favorably.

Mr. BARBER reported favorably on the bill to extend Chenango Canal.

Mr. WATSON reported favorably the Railroad toll bill.

The bill to incorporate the Veterans of the National Guard was ordered to a third reading.

Mr. TABER introduced a bill to authorize the Flushing Railroad Co. to use rail less than 56 pounds.

Mr. FULLERTON.—A bill to facilitate the collection of debts against insolvent corporations.

The privilege of the floor was extended to Ira Harris, U. S. Senator elect, and to a Committee of six of the New York Common Council here to meet the President elect.

The resolutions of the Senate complimentary to Governor Hicks, of Maryland, were called up and adopted.

The House took a recess till 3 o'clock P. M.

MOVEMENTS OF MR. LINCOLN.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 18.—The train bearing the President elect and party, left Buffalo at a quarter before 6 o'clock this morning. He was accompanied to the depot by Company D, of the 74th Regiment, which Company also acted as an escort, upon his reception here. Notwithstanding the early hour several hundred people were present to bid Mr. Lincoln farewell. The train consisted of a baggage and two passenger cars, under the command of John Corning, of Buffalo.

Mr. Lincoln and family and suite occupied a sleeping car, which was the rear car of the train. Amongst the distinguished gentlemen on the train beside those previously reported as accompanying Mr. Lincoln, are Messrs. J. Collamer and Philip Doshemer, of Buffalo; Hon. E. W. Leavenworth and Judge Shankland, of Syracuse; Hon. A. Hubbell, of Utica; Major J. J. Peck, of Syracuse; H. Greeley, of N. York; G. A. Scroggs, of Buffalo; Mayor Scranton, of Rochester; Hon. A. Westcott, of Syracuse, and Governor Morgan's staff.

At Batavia the train stopped five minutes. Some hundreds were assembled to greet Mr. Lincoln, who, in answer to their cheers, appeared on the rear platform and simply bowed.

A few miles east of Batavia the train was detained a short time by a heated axle on the forward passenger coach.

The train arrived at Rochester at eight o'clock. A crowd of people, numbering not less than 8000, filled the space around the depot. Mr. Lincoln was introduced by Mayor Scranton, and responded to his welcome, as follows:

"I confess myself, after having seen large audiences since leaving home, overwhelmed with this vast number of faces at this hour of the morning. I am not vain enough to believe that you are here from any wish to see me as an individual, but because I am, for the time being, the representative of the American people. I could not if I would address you at any length. I have not the strength, even if I had the time, for a speech. At these many interviews that are afforded me, on my way to Washington, I appear merely to see you, and to let you see me, and to bid you farewell. I hope it will be understood that it is from no inclination to disoblige anybody that I do not address you at greater length. (Cheering followed.)

The presence of a large police kept the crowd from pressing on the cars and perfect order was maintained, so that Mr. Lincoln's voice reached almost the extreme limits of the audience. His hoarseness troubles him less to-day than at Buffalo. A stay of only six minutes was made, Mr. Lincoln remaining standing on the rear platform of the car until the limits of the crowd were passed.

At Clyde an enthusiastic crowd was gathered who received Mr. Lincoln with a salute and cheers. He thanked the people for the welcome, but had no speech to make, and no time to make it in. He was glad to see them and bade them good morning.

At Syracuse a crowd estimated at 10,000 people was assembled to receive Mr. Lincoln. A platform draped in the national flag had been erected, from which Mr. Lincoln was invited to address the audience, which, however, he declined to do, saying that they must draw no inferences from his refusal to comply with their request in regard to any other platform with which his name was associated.

Upon the platform was a live eagle.

UTICA, Feb. 18.—The special train arrived here at 18 minutes ahead of time, and was awaited by thousands of people, who were standing in a snow-storm. The Citizens' Corps fired a salute, and the crowd enthusiastically cheered. Mr. Lincoln ascended a platform, which was drawn upon the track, and was introduced to the assembled concourse by the Mayor. He spoke as follows:

"Ladies and Gentlemen—I have no speech to make to you, and I shall not have sufficient time to make one if I had. I have appeared before you simply to thank you heartily for this noble reception, and to see you and allow you to see me. I am not sure but, at least as regards the ladies, I have the best of the bargain, in the sight. In conclusion, I have only to say farewell."

He was met here by the Legislative Committee. A few minutes later the train passed on, Mr. Lincoln bowing a farewell as he left the crowd behind.

ALBANY, Feb. 18.—At Utica the train was delayed longer than was anticipated, to allow a heated journal to cool. The vast crowd assembled indulged in hearty demonstrations of joy at the sight of Mr. Lincoln. He returned thanks for their kind reception, and excused himself from speaking.

A hearty welcome also greeted Mr. Lincoln at Little Falls, and as the train stopped, the church bells rang a merry peal, and the shouts of the excited crowd called Mr. L. to the platform of the car, but although earnestly entreated to make a speech, he declined to mount a raised platform and be welcomed formally.

Fonda turned out en-masse to welcome the President.

At Amsterdam and Schenectady, large crowds were assembled. As the train approached the latter place a cannon was recklessly fired point-blank at the first coach, the concussion bursting in the door, tearing the lock, and breaking to atoms three windows. Several persons near were covered with broken glass, but no one was injured.

At 2.20 P. M., two guns announced the arrival of the train in Albany by the Central Railroad Co, at the Broadway crossing, where the train stopped. When the engine came in sight, the Erastus Corning, Jr., being decorated with flag, loud and enthusiastic shouts were sent up by the multitude, which numbered several thousand. Some delay occurred in consequence of the Military not being on the ground in time, and the crowd vented their impatience in cries of "Come out, on the platform," "Get off the cars," "Show us the rail-splitter," "Trot out Old Abe," and similar requests. At length the Twenty-fifth Regiment, Col. Bryan commanding, appeared on the ground, and a pathway was opened to the carriages and the platform cleared. Mr. Lincoln then appeared on the platform, and was received with deafening cheers. He was met by Mayor Thacher, who welcomed him as follows:

Mr. Lincoln, in behalf of the Common Council and the citizens of Albany, I have the honor to tender you the cordial welcome of the city. We trust that you will accept the welcome we offer, not simply as a tribute of respect to the high office you are called to fill, but also as a testimony of the good-will of the citizens without distinction of party, and as the expression of their appreciation of your eminent personal worth, and their confidence in your patriotism. We are aware of your previous arrangements with the State Authorities, and the brevity of your stay will compell us to forego the pleasure of extending to you on the part of the city other and more befitting hospitalities, but we are happy to know that his Excellency, the Governor, and the Senators and Representatives in the Legislature, are about to receive you as the guest of the Empire State, and in so doing they will represent the kind regards of the whole people, as well as the citizens of the capital. Permit me, therefore, to greet you in the name of the citizens, and repeat the assurance of a most cordial welcome."

"Mr. Mayor:—I can hardly appropriate to myself the flattering terms in which you communicate the tender of this reception, as personal to myself. I most gratefully accept the hospitalities tendered to me and will not detain you or the audience with any extended remarks at this time. I presume that in the two or three courses through which I shall have to go, I shall have to repeat somewhat, and I will therefore only repeat to you my thanks for this kind reception."

At the close of his brief remarks, the party proceeded at once to the carriages, which took their way down Broadway, and up State street to the Capitol. The whole route was densely crowded with citizens, and the windows of the houses were filled with ladies, while carriages crowded with ladies lined each side of the road. Many residences displayed flags in profusion, and across Broadway was hung a strip of canvass, bearing the inscriptions, "Welcome to the Capital of the Empire State"—"No more Compromises." From the windows of the Young Men's Association Building on State street, was displayed a banner, with the words, "We will pray for you, the Defender of the Constitution as it is." Along the line of the procession, the greetings of the citizens were most cordial throughout, and ladies waved salutations and smiled welcomes with pleasing liberality. In the Capitol Park an immense concourse of people gathered, and the task of military and police was anything but easy. At length the Capitol was reached, and Mr. Lincoln was conducted at once to the Executive Chamber, where he was introduced to Governor Morgan, the State officers and the Governor's Staff.

After welcoming the President elect, Governor Morgan proceeded with him to the head steps of the Capitol, where he was greeted with a perfect roar of applause; the people rushing forward to obtain a sight of his countenance, and for a time defying the efforts of the soldiers and police to keep the line. Mr. Lincoln gazed round on the crowd which filled the Park, and lined all the trees within sight, in apparent amazement at its vastness, and, turning to the Governor, said: "Do you think we can make these people hear us?" Gov. Morgan replied with a dubious shake of the head, and made one or two ineffectual efforts, by waving his hat, to still the noise of the multitude, but the hoarse roar of the people, and shouts of the soldiers and police, made a din and confusion that rendered the speeches that followed a dumb show, except to those in the immediate vicinity of the speakers.

Gov. Morgan then welcomed Mr. Lincoln, as follows:

Honored Sir: Chosen, as you have been, to the highest and most responsible office in the nation, or on the globe, and journeying, as you are, to the Federal Capital, to enter upon your public duties, you have kindly turned aside upon the invitation of the Legislature, for the purpose of a brief sojourn at the capital of New York. On behalf of the people, irrespective of political opinion, it is a privilege to greet you, and extend a cordial welcome. If you have found your fellow-citizens in larger numbers elsewhere, you have not found, and I think you will not find warmer hearts, or people more faithful to the Union, the Constitution, and the laws, than you will meet in the time-honored city of the Capital. The people thank you, Sir, for the opportunity you have thus afforded them of manifesting to you their great respect, no less for yourself personally than for the high office you are destined so soon to fill."

"Mr. Governor:—I was pleased to receive an invitation to visit the Capital of the great Empire State of this nation, on my way to the Federal Capital, and I now thank you, Mr. Governor, and the people of this Capital, and the people of the State of New York, for this most hearty and magnificent welcome. If I am not at fault, the great Empire State at this time contains a greater population than did the United States of America at the time she achieved her National Independence. I am proud to be invited to pass through your Capital, and meet them, as I now have the honor to do. I am notified by your Governor that this reception is given without distinction of party. I accept it the more gladly because it is so. Almost all men in this country, and in any country where freedom of thought is tolerated, attach themselves to political parties. It is but ordinary charity to attribute this to the fact that in so attaching himself to the party which his judgment prefers, the citizen believes he thereby promotes the best interests of the whole country; and when an election is passed, it is altogether befitting a free people, that until the next election, they should be as one people. The reception you have extended to me to-day, is not given to me personally. It should not be so, but as the representative for the time being of the majority of the nation. If the election had resulted in the selection of either of the other candidates, the same cordiality should have been extended him, as is extended to me this day in their testimony of the devotion of the whole people to the Constitution and to the whole Union, and of their desire to perpetuate our institutions, and to hand them down in their perfection to succeeding generations. I have neither the voice nor the strength to address you at any greater length. I beg you will accept my most grateful thanks for this devotion, not to me, but to this great and glorious free country."

This address was accompanied and followed by loud applause, and Mr. Lincoln, after bowing to the crowd, was conducted by the Committees to the Assembly Chamber. The Chamber presented a fine appearance, being densely filled, all those in the galleries, and most of those in the lower lobbies being ladies. There were also several ladies within the bar of the House.—The Speaker's desk was occupied by Senator Colvin, who was selected by the Senate to receive the President-elect, and by Speaker Littlejohn, who stood on the left. When Mr. Lincoln entered the Chamber, the whole assemblage arose and greeted him with loud clapping of hands. Senator Ferry, advancing to the front of the Speaker's desk, said: "I have the honor to introduce to the Senate and Assembly of the State of New York, in joint convention assembled, the Hon. Abraham Lincoln, of Illinois, President-elect of the United States." The Speaker of the Assembly, descending from the desk, greeted Mr. Lincoln, and leading him to the desk, introduced him to Senator Colvin. After shaking hands, Senator Colvin descended from the desk, leaving Mr. Lincoln alone there, and addressed him from the Clerk's desk as follows:

Mr. Lincoln:—On behalf of the Representatives of the sovereign people of New York, we welcome you to the Capitol and to the Representative Halls of the State. We welcome you as the President elect of thirty millions of people. We welcome you as the President elect according to the forms of the Constitution of the United States, and when, Sir, you shall have assumed, as you soon will assume, the office of President of the United States, you may in the discharge of your constitutional duties rely on the support of the people of this great State. (Great applause.) I have the pleasure, Sir, to introduce you to the Legislature of New York in joint convention assembled to welcome the President elect of the Union. (Renewed applause.)

Mr. LINCOLN responded as follows:

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Legislature of the State of New York:—It is with feelings of great diffidence, and I may say, with feelings of awe perhaps greater than I have recently experienced, that I meet you here in this place. The history of this great State, the renown of those great men that have stood here, and spoke here and been heard here, all crowd around my fancy, and incline me to shrink from any attempt to address you. Yet I have some confidence given me by the generous manner in which you have invited me, and by the still more generous manner in which you have received me, to speak further. You have invited and received me without distinction of party. I cannot for a moment suppose that this has been done in any considerable degree with reference to my personal services, but that it is done in so far as I am regarded at this time as the representative of the majesty of this great nation. I doubt not this is the truth and the whole truth of the case, and this is as it should be. It is much more gratifying to me that this reception has been given to me as the representative of a free people, than it could possibly be if tendered me as an evidence of devotion to me, or to any one man personally, and now I think it were more fitting that I should close these hasty remarks. It is true that while I hold myself without mock modesty, the humblest of all individuals that have ever been elevated to the Presidency, I have a more difficult task to perform than any one of them. You have generously tendered me the support of the great Empire State. For this, in behalf of the nation, in behalf of the present and future of the Nation, in behalf of the civil and religious liberty for all time to come, most gratefully do I thank you. I do not propose to enter into an explanation of any particular line of policy as to our present difficulties to be adopted by the incoming Administration. I deem it just to you, to myself, and to all, that I should see everything, that I should hear everything, that I should have every light that can be brought within my reach, in order that when I do so speak, I shall have enjoyed every opportunity to take correct and true ground, and for this reason I don't propose to speak at this time of the policy of the Government; but when the time comes, I shall speak as well as I am able for the good of the present and future of this country; for the good both of the North and the South of this country, for the good of the one and the other, and of all sections of the country. (Rounds of applause.) In the meantime, if we have patience, if we restrain ourselves, if we allow ourselves not to run off in a passion, I still have confidence that the Almighty, the maker of the Universe, will, through the instrumentality of this great and intelligent people, bring us through this as he has through all the other difficulties of our country. Relying on this, I again thank you for this generous reception. (Applause and cheers.)

Immediately following the address the Speaker said:

The Joint Convention of the two Houses will now take a recess to give members of the Senate and Assembly an opportunity of introduction to Mr. Lincoln. The members of the Senate, Assembly, Common Council, Officers, and a few visitors, were then introduced, and welcomed the President. At four o'clock the Speaker called to order and Mr. Lincoln retired and was escorted by Senator Ferry and Mr. Ball of the Assembly to the Executive Chamber. The Senators returned, and at 4.05, on motion of Mr. Emerick, the house adjourned.

In the Governor's room Mr. Lincoln was introduced to the State officers, who were assembled to receive him, and was then conducted by the Legislative Committee through the double ranks of the 25th Regiment, who presented arms as he passed to his carriage.

The cortege then proceeded to the Delevan House attended and cheered by an immense concourse of people. Here the Committee took their leave, and Mr. Lincoln received a few calls from particular friends. He then proceeded, accompanied by Mrs. Lincoln, to the residence of Gov. Morgan, to dinner. After dinner he returned to his quarters at the Delevan House, where he spent the evening in receiving visits, first of ladies and then of male citizens. The Delevan House was crowded to suffocation during the entire evening.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 18.—Senator Cook, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, on the part of the State of New Jersey, for the reception of the President elect, on his arrival in this State, has received a telegraphic despatch from Mr. Lincoln, dated at Buffalo, informing Mr. Cook that he would arrive at Trenton at 12 o'clock M. on Thursday the 21st inst. We understand that Mr. Lincoln and suite will dine at the Trenton House by invitation of the State Legislature. Two or three military companies are expected from other parts of the State. It is believed that the largest assemblage ever seen in Trenton will be present on Thursday.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—A Committee of the Council and citizens are actively engaged in making preparations for the reception of Mr. Lincoln, Thursday, P. M., and on his arrival at the depot he will be greeted with a Union Salute. He will be escorted through the principal thoroughfares by a cavalcade of citizens to the Continental Hotel, where a grand display of fireworks will take place, as also a reception in the evening. At sunrise on the morning of the 22d Mr. Lincoln will be invited to raise a flag displaying thirty-four Stars over Independence Hall.

The Pennsylvania R. R. Co. are making extensive arrangements for his conduction to Harrisburg on the 22d, on which day there will be a grand military display at the State Capitol.

PROGRESS OF MR. HAMLIN TO WASHINGTON.

BANGOR, Me., Feb. 18.—Vice-President Hamlin and lady left here this morning, en route for Washington. He will arrive at Boston this evening, and leave for the West to-morrow morning. He was escorted from Hampden to our city by a large number of his fellow-townsmen, and was received here by the Mayor and ex-Mayors of this city, and an immense procession of citizens in single and double sleighs escorted the party to the railroad station. Notwithstanding the early hour this morning, Mr. Hamlin was received with enthusiastic cheers, and the warm greetings and affectionate farewell of thousands of his fellow-citizens. In reply to a brief address by C. S. Crosby, Esq., Mr. Hamlin made a few remarks—and as the train was starting, in the course of his remarks, he said:

"I go to the discharge of the official duties which have been conferred upon me by a generous people, and relying upon Divine Providence, I trust that confidence shall never be betrayed. I know full well that dark clouds are lowering around the political horizon, and that madness rules the hour, but I am hopeful still that our people are not only loyal to the Government, but they are fraternal to all its citizens, and when in practice it shall be demonstrated that the Constitutional rights of all the States will be respected and maintained by following the paths illumined by Washington, Jefferson, and Madison. May we not reasonably hope and expect that quiet will be restored, and the whole Country will still advance in a cause which will elevate man in a social, moral, and intellectual condition?"

BOSTON, Feb. 18.—Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, with Mrs. Hamlin, arrived here by the Eastern cars this evening, at 7.30. But few people were at the depot. They at once proceeded to the Revere House, where they remain to-night. Mr. Hamlin will leave for New York, via Worcester, to-morrow at 8.20, A.M.

INAUGURATION OF JEFFERSON DAVIS.

MONTGOMERY, Feb. 18.—The inaugural ceremonies to-day were the grandest pageant ever witnessed in the South. There was an immense crowd on Capitol Hill, consisting of a great array of the beauty, military and citizens of the different States. Mr. Davis commenced precisely at 1 o'clock. He said:

"Gentlemen of the Congress of the Confederate States of America, Friends, and Fellow-Citizens—Called to the difficult and responsible station of Chief Executive of the Provisional Government which you have instituted, I approach the discharge of the duties assigned me with an humble distrust of my abilities, but with a sustaining confidence in the wisdom of those who are to guide and aid me in the administration of public affairs, and an abiding faith in the virtue and patriotism of the people. Looking forward to the speedy establishment of a permanent Government to take the place of this, and which, by its greater moral and physical power, will be better able to combat with the many difficulties which arise from the conflicting interests of separate nations, I enter upon the duties of the office to which I have been chosen, with the hope that the beginning of our career as a Confederacy may not be obstructed by hostile opposition to our enjoyment of the separate existence and independence which we have asserted, and which, with the blessing of Providence, we intend to maintain. Our present condition, achieved in a manner unprecedented in the history of nations, illustrates the American idea that governments rest upon the consent of the governed, and that it is the right of the people to alter and abolish Governments whenever they become destructive to the ends for which they were established. The declared compact of the Union from which we have withdrawn was to establish justice, ensure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, and when in the judgment of the Sovereign States now composing this Confederacy, it has been perverted from the purposes for which it was ordained and ceased to answer the ends for which it was established, a peaceful appeal to the ballot box declared that so far as they were concerned the Government created by that compact should cease to exist. In this they merely asserted the right which the Declaration of Independence of 1776 defined to be inalienable. Of the time and occasion of its exercise, they as sovereigns were the final judges, each for itself. The impartial, enlightened verdict of mankind will vindicate the rectitude of our conduct, and he who knows the hearts of men will judge of the sincerity with which we labored to preserve the Government of our fathers in its spirit. The right solemnly proclaimed at the birth of the States, and which has been affirmed and re-affirmed in the bills of rights of the States subsequently admitted into the Union of 1789, undeniably recognizes in the people the power to resume the authority delegated for the purposes of government. Thus the Sovereign States here represented proceeded to form this Confederacy, and it is by the abuse of language that their act has been denominated revolution. They formed a new alliance, but within each State its Government has remained. The rights of person and property have not been disturbed. The agent through whom they communicated with foreign nations is changed, but this does not necessarily interrupt their international relations. Sustained by the consciousness that the transition from the former Union to the present Confederacy has not proceeded from a disregard on our part of our just obligations, or any failure to perform every constitutional duty; moved by no interest or passion, to invade the rights of others; anxious to cultivate peace and commerce with all nations, if we may not hope to avoid war, we may at least expect that posterity will acquit us of having needlessly engaged in it. Doubly justified by the absence of wrong on our part, and by wanton aggression on the part of others, there can be no cause to doubt the courage and patriotism of the people of the Confederate States will be found equal to any measures of defence which soon their security may require. An agricultural people, whose chief interest is the export of a commodity required in every manufacturing country, our true policy is peace, and the freest trade which our necessities will permit. It is alike our interest and that of all those to whom we would sell, and from whom we would buy, that there should be the fewest practicable restrictions upon the interchange of commodities. There can be but little rivalry between ours and any manufacturing or navigating community such as the North-Eastern States of the American Union. It must therefore follow that mutual interest would invite good will and kind offices. If, however, passion or lust of dominion should cloud the judgment or influence the ambition of these States, we must prepare to meet the emergency, and maintain by the final arbitrament of the sword, the position which we have assumed among the nations of the earth. We have entered upon a career of independence, and must be inflexibly pursued through many years of controversy with our late associates of the Northern States. We have vainly endeavored to secure tranquillity and obtain respect for the rights to which we were entitled. As a necessity, not a choice, we have resorted to the remedy of separation, and henceforth our energies must be directed to the conduct of our own affairs and the perpetuity of the Confederacy which we have formed. If a just perception of mutual interest shall permit us peaceably to pursue our separate political career, my most earnest desire will have been fulfilled. But if this be denied us, and the integrity of our territory and jurisdiction be assailed, it will but remain for us with firm resolve to appeal to arms and invoke the blessing of Providence on a just cause. As a consequence of our new condition, and with a view to meet anticipated wants, it will be necessary to provide a speedy and efficient organization of the branches of the Executive Department, having special charge of Foreign Intercourse, Finance, Military Affairs, and Postal Service. For purposes of defence, the Confederate States may, under ordinary circumstances, rely mainly upon their Militia; but it is deemed advisable in the present condition of affairs, that there should be a well-instructed, disciplined army, more numerous than would usually be required on a peace establishment. I also suggest that, for the protection of our harbors and commerce on the high seas, a navy, adapted to those objects, will be required. These necessities have doubtless engaged the attention of Congress. With a Constitution differing only from that of our fathers, in so far as it is explanatory of their well-known intent, freed from sectional conflicts which have interfered with the pursuit of the general welfare, it is not unusual to expect that the States from which we have recently parted may seek to unite their fortunes with ours, under the Government we have instituted. For this, your Constitution makes adequate provision; but beyond this, if I mistake not, the judgment and will of the people are, that union with the States from which they have separated is neither practicable nor desirable. To increase the power, develope the resources, and promote the happiness of a Confederacy, it is requisite there should be so much of homogeneity that the welfare of every portion would be the aim of the whole. Where this does not exist, antagonisms are engendered which must and should result in separation. Actuated solely by a desire to preserve our own rights and to promote our own welfare, the separation of the Confederate States has been marked by no aggression upon others, and followed by no domestic convulsion. Our industrial pursuits have received no check, the cultivation of our fields progresses as heretofore, and even should we be involved in war, there would be no considerable diminution in the production of the staples which have constituted our exports, in which the commercial world has an interest scarcely less than our own. This common interest of producer and consumer can only be intercepted by an exterior force which should obstruct its transmission to foreign markets, a course of conduct which would be detrimental to manufacturing and commercial interests abroad, should reason guide the action of the Government from which we have separated, a policy so detrimental to the civilized world, the Northern States included, could not be dictated by even a stronger desire to inflict injury upon us; but if it be otherwise, a terrible responsibility will rest upon it, and the suffering of millions will bear testimony to the policy and wickedness of our aggressors. In the meantime there will remain to us besides the ordinary remedies before suggested, the well-known resources for retaliation upon the commerce of an enemy. Experience in public stations of a subordinate grade to this which your kindness has conferred, has taught me that care and toil and disappointments are the price of official elevation. You will see many errors to forgive, many deficiencies to tolerate, but you shall not find in me any want of zeal or fidelity to the cause that is to me the highest in hope and of most enduring affection. Your generosity has bestowed upon me an undeserved distinction, one which I neither sought nor desired. Upon the continuance of that sentiment, and upon your wisdom and patriotism I rely to direct and support me in the performance of the duty required at my hands. We have changed the constituent parts but not the system of our Government; the Constitution formed by our fathers is that of these Confederated States. In their exposition of it, and in the judicial construction it has received, we have a light which reveals its true meaning. Thus instructed as to the just interpretation of that instrument, and even remembering that all offices are but trusts held for the people, and that delegated powers are to be strictly construed, I will hope, by due diligence in the performance of my duties, though I may disappoint your expectations, yet to retain when retiring something of the good will and confidence which will welcome my entrance into office. It is joyous, in the midst of perilous times, to look around upon a people united in heart, where one purpose of high resolve animates and actuates the whole; where the sacrifices to be made are not weighed in the balance against honor, right, liberty and equality. Obstacles may retard, but they cannot long prevent the progress of a movement sanctioned by its justice, and sustained by a virtuous people. Reverently let us invoke the God of our fathers to guide, and provide and protect us in our efforts to perpetuate the principles which, by his blessing, they were able to vindicate, establish and transmit to their posterity, and, with a continuance of his favor, ever gratefully acknowledged, we may hopefully look forward to success, to peace, to prosperity."

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—It appears from the investigation of the House Military Committee, that ex-Secretary Floyd accepted A. R. Belknap's bid for 100,000 muskets, but that Secretary Holt refuses to recognize the contract. Mr. Belknap says they were intended for the Sardinian Government. It is further shown that Mr. Floyd distributed without any order, through the Engineer of the Department, 65,000 percussion muskets, 40,000 altered muskets, and 10,000 rifles, among the arsenals at Charleston, Augusta, Mount Vernon, Baton Rouge, and North Carolina. With the exception of those for the last named, the arms fell into the possession of South Carolina, Alabama, Louisiana, and Georgia by their secession movements.

The Committee give as a reason for reporting a bill authorizing the President to accept the services of volunteers, that it is certain that the regular military force is wholly inadequate to protect the forts, arsenals, dock yards, and other property of the United States in the present disturbed condition of the country, the larger portion of the Army being necessary for the defence of the frontier.

Some of the delegates to the Peace Conference to-night, say they will probably agree by Wednesday upon the plan of adjustment which will be satisfactory even to the Virginia Commissioners.

The Territorial question was under consideration to-day, and the debate was directed to the object of securing unanimity on that point.

SERIOUS CHARGE.

ALBANY, Feb. 18.—Jay Gibbons, member of the Assembly from the First District of this (Albany) County, was arrested this morning on a warrant issued by Police Justice Parsons on complaint of District Attorney Shafer, charging the said Jay Gibbons with bribery and corruption, in demanding money for his vote on a bill to increase the salary of the Deputy District Attorney of Albany County.

Gibbons offered to cast his vote in its favor for $100, and intimated that he could defeat the bill, and would do so if he was not paid the said amount. The evidence of his crime is indisputable. He waived an examination before the Magistrate, and was committed, but, subsequently, was taken before the County Judge, where an application to admit him to bail is now being heard.

ALBANY, Feb. 18.—Mr. Jay Gibbons, one of the Albany Members of Assembly, was to-day arrested on a charge of bribery, having attempted to procure $100 for his vote for the bill increasing the salary of the Assistant District-Attorney of Albany County, which he was before opposing. He had been held to bail in $1000 bonds. These proceedings are outside the Legislature, but will be brought before the House to-morrow.

THE SOUTHERN CONGRESS, &c.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 18.—The signing of the Provisional Constitution is the only business before Congress. The day has been consumed by the inauguration.

To-night the city is gorgeously illuminated. The President is holding a levee at Estelle Hall. Bands are playing, and fireworks, banners, and transparencies are the order of the evening.

FROM CHARLESTON.

CHARLESTON, Feb. 18.—J. P. Lindsay, the inventor of the ten-shooter and "Young America," left last night for Washington, ordered by the President of the Arms Company. It is supposed he will be censured for the large amount of arms sold by him to the South.

NORTH CAROLINA LEGISLATURE.

RALEIGH, Feb 18.—The Legislature has agreed to adjourn on Monday next.

The Senate has been at work on the Military Bill, which was on its third reading. To-day, an amendment against coercion was offered, which occupied the day in its discussion.

The House is hard at work on the Convention Bill.

A Convention of Wake county to-day nominated as Secession candidates for the State Convention, Messrs. Rand, Servis, and Wilder.

THE VIRGINIA CONVENTION.

RICHMOND, Feb. 18.—The Commissioners from Mississippi and Georgia addressed the Convention to-day, appealing strongly to Virginia to go with them. They pictured the advantages of such a course, and the danger of remaining with the North. The speeches contemplated no such event as reunion.

THE SUFFERING IN KANSAS.

ATCHISON, Feb. 18.—Mr. Hyatt departed yesterday afternoon for the East, having accomplished the object for which he came, which was to ascertain the true condition, and to hurry forward the establishment of relief depots in the interior, which is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible, under the energy of Col. Pomeroy. Mr. Hyatt goes East to urge forward the movement in reference to legislation, and to devise relief generally. As soon as practicable he will visit Europe for the purpose of regaining his health.

THE MISSOURI ELECTION.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 17.—A joint resolution was introduced in the Senate yesterday afternoon, empowering the Governor to call out the Military to preserve the peace at the election in St. Louis for delegates to the State Convention to-morrow, and, after an exciting debate, it was passed by a vote of 18 to 4.

The resolution was then sent to the House, and a motion made to suspend the rules in order to receive the above resolution, which was lost.

Mayor Filley, it is understood, has taken the most effectual measures to prevent rioting in any form, and no real apprehensions of disturbance now exist.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 18.—Incomplete returns received indicate the election of the Union Ticket for the State Convention to be held in this city, by about 5000 majority.

The election passed off quietly, no disturbance of any kind occurring.

The returns from the State so far received favor the election of Union candidates.

CALIFORNIA LAND TITLES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The Supreme Court of the United States recently, in a California land case, established an important principle as to that State: in effect, that where a claimant has obtained a confirmation of title and a patent, the adverse party in possession cannot, in an action, resist the title of the patentee.

The Pony Express passed East at 6.30 P. M. By it we learn that the name of Camp Floyd has been changed to Fort Crittenden.

The Pony Express reached San Francisco on the 31st ult. with the Eastern news, telegraphed to Fort Kearney, of the 24th, containing a detailed account of affairs at Charleston, S. C., after the Star of the West was fired into, the debate thereon in the United States Senate, and the proceedings in the New York and other State Legislatures. Altogether, it was considered the most alarming intelligence yet received here.

The Legislature has spent most of the time since in debating the various series of Union resolutions formally introduced, with a prospect of continuing the debate some days before reaching any conclusion. It was expected that most of the Breckinridge members ial question. It is believed that a caucus could be held with a full attendance.

The State Agricultural Society has just held its annual meeting, and decided that all general State fairs shall hereafter be held at Sacramento. Since the discovery of the Washoe and other silver mines on the eastern slope of Sierra Nevada, fifty-three silver mining companies have been regularly organized under the laws of California for the professed object of developing various argentiferous districts, with the nominal capital of over $44,000,000. Most of these companies have their headquarters at San Francisco.

Captain Richard L. Whiting, long in the service of the P. S. S. Co., died suddenly of apoplexy, at San Francisco, on the evening of the 31st, after having been about the city in his usual health all day.

There are again various rumors in circulation, of a secret movement among Southern politicians to precipitate a crisis in this State, under a watchword of a Pacific Republic.

The Federal employees at the Island Navy Yard have received no pay for some weeks, and all that could possibly be spared are discharged.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

Continued fine weather encourages transactions in goods to the interior and gives some activity to the jobbing trade; as yet little has been done from first hands, but there is a moderate enquiry that should lead to transactions. Butter stiffening; Isthmus bringing 25a28c, and higher figures asked for extra brands. Crushed Sugar moving more freely and 11c being paid in some instances. Lard quiet. Linseed Oil lower, and other imported articles without change.

Money affairs on the steamer day were comparatively easy. The export demand for Wheat keeps the market bare at an average of 170 per one hundred pounds.

The weather was exceedingly propitious to farmers, and a much greater breadth of ground will be devoted to wheat the ensuing season than ever before.

NO SIGNS OF THE ARAGO, JURA, OR KANGAROO.

SANDY HOOK, Feb. 18, 12 midnight.—There are as yet no signs of any of the European steamers due off this point.

Wind N.W., Light. Weather clear.

BURNING OF THE STEAMER ASHLAND.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 18.—The steamer Ashland, from Temsas River to New Orleans, laden with cotton, was burnt on the 15th. No lives were lost.

EXCOMMUNICATION.

SPRINGFIELD, Feb. 18.—G. J. Adams, a hypocritical preacher and professor of Adventism and believer in the Church of the Messiah, was excommunicated at a public meeting of the Society this evening. He was shown to be, simultaneously, a drunken vagabond, an actor, a liar, and preacher. The meeting was attended by several hundred persons, and the police were unable to preserve order. It was exciting, and Mr. Adams was almost unanimously branded a hypocrite.

FIRE IN BUFFALO.

BUFFALO, Feb. 18.—The stores Nos. 218 and 220 Main street, occupied by Messrs. Moores & White, boot and shoe dealers; and A. J. Mathews, druggist, were destroyed by fire last night; the stock was removed with but little damage; fully insured. The second floor was occupied as law offices—the libraries were saved. The third and fourth stories were occupied by Messrs. Sleight & Barnes as a billiard saloon; their loss is estimated at $7,000; insured for $5,000. The fifth story was occupied by Professor Hadley, chemist, as a laboratory. The building was known as Townsend Hall block, and owned by G. R. Wilson, of Elizabeth, N. J. The building was insured for $19,000, in Eastern Companies. The total loss is about $22,000.
