17	29	Corrected the second example and the sentence preceding it: The mono record for Urinary incontinence should have a 490 1/830 instead of a 730 because the issue is part of the regular numbering of the serial (it is an analytic even though it is called a special issue). The distinction is not if the issue is called "special;" the distinction is if the issue is part of the serial's numbering. LCRI 21.30G (where instruction about 730 field is found) applies only to unnumbered issues.	29-30
