Air University Research Web

(Available through MSFRIC's databases)

This database contains information on all research being conducted at Air University, providing on-line access to over 2,000 papers written by faculty and students at Air University and AF Fellows. Each research record contains the title, a brief description, a list of authors and faculty advisors, standard keywords, and an abstract. By entering a simple search word(s), researchers can search this database to find out what research is being conducted in a particular area.

Air Force's 60th Birthday!

This year marks the 60th anniversary of the Air Force. The service was born of the Army Air Corps and officially became the Air Force on September 18, 1947.

In conjunction with the "Heritage to Horizons" theme, the Air Force is sponsoring several Air Force weeks around the country. The locations chosen include: Atlanta, Phoenix, St. Louis, Sacramento, Boston, and Honolulu. The Air Force Week program is meant to increase the awareness and support for Airmen by informing the public and involving them in activities that showcase the Air Force's diverse capabilities and missions, its accomplishments and the sacrifice of Airmen.
