

How Can I Search SCAMPI?

The Defense Technical Information Center (DTIC) hosts the Web-based version of SCAMPI at: <http://www.dtic.mil/dtic/scampi/> SCAMPI and the Air University Library Index to Military Periodicals (AULIMP) can be searched simultaneously on DTIC's site at: <http://multisearch.dtic.mil/>

A simple search provides quick access, while an advanced search offers a more specific strategy using multiple search fields.

A simple search works best when the user has specific information such as title, author, and subject headings. Keyword and Boolean searching (and, or, not) can be used within search functions.

The advanced search allows the user to refine searching and maximize the number of relevant results.

While it is possible to obtain the same results using either simple or advanced searching, the advanced search options can help the user formulate a more precise search.

The SCAMPI Home Page is provided through the cooperative efforts of the Joint Forces Staff College Ike Skelton Library, the National Defense University Library and the Defense Technical Information Center.

Staff College Automated Military Periodicals Index (SCAMPI)

The Joint Forces Staff College Ike Skelton Library is a specialized military library, focusing on research in joint and multinational operations, military history and naval science, operational warfare, and operations other than war.

Library staff members regularly scan news magazines and journals to produce SCAMPI. Miscellaneous reports from DTIC, GAO, the Congressional Research Service and other agencies are occasionally included in SCAMPI. The index focuses primarily on titles that are not indexed commercially or in the Air University Library Index to Military Periodicals (AULIMP).

SCAMPI journal titles are selected based on their military relevance, uniqueness, and the currency of the commercial indexing.

The resulting database serves as a guide to articles on military and naval art and science, operational warfare, joint planning, national and international politics, and other areas.
The SCAMPI database covers the period from 1996 through the present.
