As part of a continuing series of orientations to libraries and information centers, FLICC is offering an opportunity for federal librarians to become acquainted with the U.S. Customs and Border Protection Library housed in the Ronald Reagan Building.

The U.S. Customs Service (formerly of the Department of Treasury) has become part of one of the four directorates of the Department of Homeland Security, the Border and Transportation Security directorate. Thus, the Customs and Border Protection Library and Information Resources Center also became part of the DHS library structure in 2003.

Date

Wednesday, November 10, 2004

Time

1:00 p.m. — 3:00 p.m.

Place

US Customs and Border Protection (CBP) Library (Information Resources Center)
1300 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Suite 7.5B, Washington, DC.
Telephone (202) 344-1350.

Directions and Special Instructions

The library is located in the Ronald Reagan Building. Entrance is restricted and all visitors must be escorted to the library. If you are arriving via the Metro, exit at Federal Triangle (Orange and Blue Lines) which has an entrance to the Reagan Building. After showing your photo ID, tell the desk personnel you are attending an event in the library on the 7th floor. They will call the library for your escort. Then you will walk directly across the “great hall” to the “up” escalators. At the next level, bear left to the library lobby.

If you are arriving by taxi or car you can enter on 14th Street and go directly to the guard desk and call for an escort. Attendees are limited to 40 people.
