

Digital Licensing and Online Content

Need to learn more about licensing digital content like periodicals, databases and images, but don't have the time to attend a course? With Copyrightlaws.com, FLICC is pleased to announce a unique online course on digital licensing and online content. The course will cover a broad range of topics including

- Basic digital licensing concepts and strategies
- Licensing arrangements
- Negotiating licenses
- Global aspects of licensing
- Boiler plate and other licensing clauses
- Managing licenses

How does this online course work? Three times a week, beginning Monday, May 2, 2005, you will receive e-lessons for 9 weeks (a total of 27 sessions) and a self-marking quiz. During the duration of the course, participants will also be part of an exclusive listserv where participants can discuss course contents and ask questions.

Lesley Ellen Harris, author of several books on copyright including Digital Licensing: A Practical Guide for Librarians, is the developer and proctor for this course. She has also developed email tutorials on digital licensing for the American Library Association and an international version on Canadian copyright law. For more information on Harris visit her Web site at <http://copyrightlaws.com>.
