BILL NO. 22.

COUNCIL HOUSE,
TUSHKAHOMA, IND. TER., }
October 31, 1904. }

TO THEODORE ROOSEVELT, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, WASHINGTON, D. C.

We, the people of the Choctaw Nation, through our representatives in National Council assembled, appeal to you with the full assurance that your personal familiarity with the conditions in the west will enable you to reach a just conclusion touching our welfare. It is appropriate in this condition to say, that we of the west do not hesitate to affirm that you, as President, more thoroughly represent western ideas than any former chief executive. We feel that we have in you a friend, and for that reason we speak with candor.

The people of the Choctaw Nation in their treaties with the United States government have ever contended for, and caused to be embodied in those agreements, a promise that no portions of their lands would ever be included in any state or territory without the full consent of the Five Civilized Tribes. This demand for, and promise of home rule, has been the strongest inducement held out to us as a people to gain our acquiescence and participation in the treaties made with the United States government. As a people, we have kept our faith with the United States government; have never violated the treaties entered into with it, and have lived in the belief that the undertakings of the United States with our people would be carried out in spirit and to the letter. Now as the time approaches for the consumation of the sacred pledge made to us, we are confronted with the disquieting fact that Congress is endeavoring to legislate to the detriment of the Five Civilized Tribes, and in contradiction of the solemn obligation imposed upon the United States government, under its treaties. Nor, have we as a people been silent. When the agitation was first inaugurated tending to violate the treaties made with us we voiced our opposition. We have addressed memorials to the United States Congress asking in the name of justice, in the name of honor, in the name of fair dealing, not to permit the passage of a law that would deprive us of our rights under the various solemn treaties made with the United States government, in whose honesty of purpose and integrity of motive we have ever believed. Our memorials have gone unheeded, and in the light of the confidence we have in you, our President, our cognizance of your interest in the welfare of your Indian citizens; your familiarity with our customs, and sympathy with our conditions, we come to you and request your intervention and assistance in bringing about the fulfillment of the promise by which the United States government secured the friendship of the Five Civilized Tribes; the consummation of the hope that has buoyed us; the light that has lead our footsteps along the path that must end in SEPERATE STATEHOOD.

There is now pending in the Senate of the United States a measure commonly known as the "Hamilton Bill," which has already passed the Lower House. This legislation has for its object the admission of Oklahoma and the Indian Territory as one state. We desire now to emphatically reiterate our protest against the final enactment of this law. In the face of the pledge that has been made us; not once, but repeatedly, as is evidenced by the following extract from the various treaties made by the United States government with the Five Civilized Tribes:

“Whereas, It being the anxious desire of the Government of the United States to secure to the Cherokee Nation Indians a permanent home, and which shall under the most solemn guarantee of the United States, be and remain forever theirs, a home extended around it the lines, or placed over it, the jurisdiction of a Territory or a State, nor be pressed upon by the extension in any way of any of the limits of any existing Territory or State.” (Treaty of 1828.)

“No Territory or State shall ever have the right to pass laws for the government of the Choctaw Nation of red men and their descendents; and no part of the land granted them shall ever be embraced in any Territory or State.” (Treaty of 1830.)

“The United States hereby covenant and agree that the lands ceded to the Cherokee Nation in the foregoing article shall in no future time, WITHOUT THEIR CONSENT, be included within the territorial limits or jurisdiction of any State or Territory.” (Treaty of 1835.)

“The United States do hereby solemnly agree and bind themselves that no State or Territory shall ever pass laws for the government of the Creek and Seminole tribes of Indians, and that no portion of either of the tracts of country defined in the first and second articles of this agreement shall ever be embraced or included within or annexed to any Territory or State, nor shall either, or any part of either, ever be erected into a territory without the full and free consent of the legislative authority of the tribe owning the same." (Treaty of 1856.)

"This stipulation is made in the belief that the tribal government so modified will prove so satisfactory that there will be no need or desire for further change until the lands now occupied by the Five Civilized Tribes shall, in the opinion of Congress, be prepared for admission as a State to the Union." (Atoka agreement, ratified 1898.)

We are unalterably, determinedly, and for all time opposed to the amalgamation of Indian Territory and Oklahoma. We feel, and it is this thought that prompts us to address you, that your familiarity with the language of the treaties solemnly executed between the United States government and the Five Civilized Tribes, will not countenance a prostitution of the sacred obligations of the United States. And the unfair attempt to pass a law that will abrogate the clause written in the agreements of the United States with the Five Civilized Tribes, that the lands of the Five Civilized Tribes would forever remain intact, would never be embraced in any State or Territory without the full consent of the Five Civilized Tribes, is a vicious effort to debase the honor of the United States government, and at the same time, deprive the Five Civilized tribes of the fruits of the pledge that moved them to execute their treaties with the United States government.

Knowing your intense honesty, your hatred of shams, and believing that your interest in our welfare is so deep rooted that you will thwart any measure aimed at our people, we appeal to you direct, asking you to take such steps as in your judgment will insure the carrying out of the pledge so sacredly and solemnly made to us, that the lands of the Five Civilized Tribes would never be included in any state or territory without the full consent of the Five Civilized Tribes. We are unalterably opposed to merging our lands with those of Oklahoma; we respectfully petition that justice be shown us, and that when Indian Territory is admitted to statehood that it will be allowed to enter the sisterhood of States, not as a part of Oklahoma, but as a sovereign commonwealth, as was promised in the treaties made with us as a people; and as we have ever hoped for since first our forefathers affixed their signatures to the first treaty with the United States government.

We are fitted for statehood; we, together with our non-citizen brothers, are qualified for government of our own state; the population, area and resources of the Indian Territory are far in advance of many states of the Union, as will quickly appear from the following statistics:

In area the Indian Territory is twenty-nine times as large as Rhode Island, sixteen times as large as Delaware, six times as large as Connecticut, four times as large as New Jersey, almost four times as large as Massachusetts, three times as large as New Hampshire, three times as large as Vermont, three times as large as Maryland. It has six thousand square miles more than West Virginia, fifteen thousand square miles more than Maine, twelve hundred square miles more than South Carolina, is practically the size of Indiana, and is four-fifth the size of either Ohio, Kentucky, Virginia or Tennessee. The Choctaw Nation alone is larger than either Rhode Island, Delaware, Connecticut, New Jersey, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont or Maryland.

According to the census of 1900 the population of the Indian Territory was 392,060, which exceeded the population of seven States and five Territories, namely: Nine times that of Nevada, six times that of Alaska, four times that of Wyoming, three times that of Arizona, twice that of Hawaii, twice that of Delaware, twice that of Idaho, and twice that of New Mexico; it had a population of 148,000 more than Montana, 113,000 more than the District of Columbia, 115,000 more than Utah, and 72,000 more than North Dakota.

The population in 1900 was greater than that of Nevada, Idaho, Wyoming and Alaska combined. Since the last census emigration to the Indian Territory has been enormous, and it is safe to say that the present population exceeds that of either Oklahoma, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Washington, Colorado, Florida, or New Hampshire.

In natural resources the Indian Territory is not unsurpassed by any state in the Union. Oil and natural gas has been developed in each of the Five Nations, but on the account of holdings of lands in common have not been operated. The same conditions obtains with reference to lead, zinc, iron and other minerals. The coal and asphalt deposits of the Indian Territory are superior to those of any State in the southwest. The coal industry is but in its infancy, and yet the annual report of the United States mine inspector for the year ended June 30, 1903, will show that during that year more than three million tons of coal were mined in the Choctaw Nation alone.

In each of the other nations are extensive fields of coal, which are being rapidly developed and operated. In the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations approximately 440,000 acres of coal and asphalt lands have been reserved from allotment. It has the most productive soil, four-fifths of which may be profitably farmed. Two-fifths have never been touched by the plow. Wheat, oats, corn and cotton, and most any product of the soil may be grown here.

In conclusion we turn to you, Mr. President, feeling that you will understand us better than Congress. As already stated, you know the west, you know our hopes and our ambitions, and we appeal again to your sense of justice and fair dealing, asking that you lend such assistance as in your power to frustrate the passage of the so-called "Hamilton Bill," and in its place recommend legislation that will insure to us the consummation of the sacred promise of the United States government; the harvesting of the hopes we have long cherished, fed on the belief that what has been pledged to us by the United States government would be fulfilled; give us but separate statehood for Indian Territory.

BILL NO. 30.

To Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, Washington, D. C.

We, your memorialists, most through the accredited delegate of the Choctaw Nation at Washington, D. C., that the enactment of recent legislation of Congress touching probate matters, has brought many evils upon us instead of the intended good designed by Congress.

Under the law that now obtains, each parent is required to give bond for the management and care of his children's estate. This construction of the law gives a class of adventurers, known as "grafters," a wide field to put many nefarious schemes in operation, which are calculated to work a great injury to the Choctaw people, generally, and the ignorant full blood Indians in particular. The outrage practiced here by the "grafters" under the guise of law, is sickening in detail. The perjury and subordination of perjury that abounds would fill a volume.

One of the favorite methods of separating the Indian from his surplus lands, is for the "grafter" to induce the Indian to go to a border town, fill him up on mean whiskey, put a pint or two in his grip and then rush him back to the Indian Territory, where he is promptly arrested. The "grafter" is usually admitted to the bar of some Territory court and passes as an attorney. He then appears and offers bond for his incarcerated victim, and by this method completes his nefarious scheme. But the most profitable and less expensive method of securing the Indian's property, is by insisting that under the law they must apply to the United States Courts by petition for the appointment as guardian of their own children. By this insistence they have induced a large number of Indians to relinquish their rights in favor of the so-called "grafter." These practices by this class of adventurers have been widespread in the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations, and unless some relief is offered these people by Congress the evils here enumerated will grow to immense proportions and lead to further outrages in the name of law.

We, therefore most respectfully request that in your message to Congress, that you point out the evil herein complained of, and suggest some appropriate remedy.

The authorized delegate of the Choctaw Nation has been directed to present this memorial, and to respectfully present further details of the deplorable situation here as a result of the legislation which Congress has thought appropriate to the conditions existing here.

And it is in the sense of the Choctaw Council, in general session assembled, that the delegate to Washington be instructed to present this memorial to the President, in person, and that this memorial shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and approval by the Principal Chief.
