

Choose an object. What might have happened if this object were absent from American history?

Describe an object that could be used to show a pattern in American society.

How do the items that you chose represent your experience?

Find an object that caused a change in America. How does that change affect you today?

Turn your back to the showcase; try to draw the objects or shapes that you remember most clearly. Why do you think you remembered what you did?

At home, think about your own primary resource treasures. What objects could you place in this treasure box to represent your own experience?

Choose an object that you like. Is there something that has happened in your own life that this object makes you think of?

Choose an object. What might have happened if this object were absent from American history?

Describe an object that could be used to show a pattern in American society.

How do the items that you chose represent your experience?

At home, think about your own primary resource treasures. What objects could you place in this treasure box to represent your own experience?

Choose an object that you like. Is there something that has happened in your own life that this object makes you think of?

Choose an object. What might have happened if this object were absent from American history?

Describe an object that could be used to show a pattern in American society.

How do the items that you chose represent your experience?

Find an object that caused a change in America. How does that change affect you today?

Turn your back to the showcase; try to draw the objects or shapes that you remember most clearly. Why do you think you remembered what you did?

At home, think about your own primary resource treasures. What objects could you place in this treasure box to represent your own experience?

Choose an object that you like. Is there something that has happened in your own life that this object makes you think of?

Find an object that caused a change in America. How does that change affect you today?

Turn your back to the showcase; try to draw the objects or shapes that you remember most clearly. Why do you think you remembered what you did?

At home, think about your own primary resource treasures. What objects could you place in this treasure box to represent your own experience?

Choose an object that you like. Is there something that has happened in your own life that this object makes you think of?

Choose an object. What might have happened if this object were absent from American history?

Describe an object that could be used to show a pattern in American society.

How do the items that you chose represent your experience?

Find an object that caused a change in America. How does that change affect you today?

Turn your back to the showcase; try to draw the objects or shapes that you remember most clearly. Why do you think you remembered what you did?