

Collections of Objects H 1427

BACKGROUND: This instruction sheet provides guidelines for the usage of the free-floating subdivisions designating private collections of objects, and for the assignment of additional headings to works on such collections. For the treatment of catalogs of private collections and catalogs of library materials, see H 1360 and H 1361. The following subdivisions are free-floating when used in accordance with the guidelines presented here:

- Archaeological collections
- Art collections
- Bonsai collections
- Catalogs and collections (May Subd Geog)
- Coin collections
- Ethnological collections
- Ethnomusicological collections
- Herbarium
- Library
- Map collections
- Musical instrument collections
- Natural history collections
- Numismatic collections
- Photograph collections
- Poster collections
- Private collections (May Subd Geog)
- Scientific apparatus collections
- Slide collections
- Stamp collections

Subdivide geographically only to bring out the place where the collection is located.*

1. Use of the subdivisions.

a. General rule. Use any of the subdivisions listed above (except -Private collections and -Catalogs and collections) as a free-floating subdivision under the name of the original owner of a private collection, the owner being an individual person, a family, or a corporate body.

H 1427 Collections of Objects

1. Use of the subdivisions. (Continued)

b. –Private collections. Use the subdivision –Private collections as a free-floating subdivision under headings for kinds of objects collected (except for natural objects or musical instruments and associated equipment, under which the subdivision –Catalogs and collections is used).

c. Use of existing subdivisions vs. proposing new subdivisions. Avoid proposing new subdivisions to be added to the above list. Whenever possible, use one of the subdivisions provided, such as –Art collections, and assign additional headings in accordance with the provisions below to bring out the specific objects. Example:

Title: The Percy Band watch collection.

650 #0 $a Clocks and watches $x Private collections
$z New York (State) $z New York.
600 10 $a Band, Percy $x Art collections.

[not 600 10 $a Band, Percy $x Watch collections.
(a hypothetical subdivision)]

2. Assignment of headings. Assign the following headings (with form subdivisions, such as –Catalogs, if appropriate) to a work about an individual private collection, including a collection that has been donated or sold to a public institution if the collection is still known by its original name:

- a heading for the name of owner subdivided by the appropriate collection subdivision. If the work discusses a private collection owned jointly by a husband and wife, assign headings for both if they have been established. If owned by a family with one well-known family member named on the title page, assign headings for both the individual person and the family.
- a collection heading that designates the type of object collected. This may be in the form of a phrase heading such as Photograph collections or a heading with the subdivision –Private collections or –Catalogs and collections, as appropriate, for example, Arrowheads–Private collections; Wind instruments–Catalogs and collections. Subdivide this heading by place to bring out the location of the collection when it is possible to do so. More than one heading may be used to express this aspect of the work.

2. Assignment of headings. (Continued)

- appropriate heading(s) to bring out any special topics of the collection that have not been covered by the headings assigned in accordance with the above provisions. Use the subdivision -Private collections, -Catalogs and collections, or a form subdivision appropriate to the work (for example, -Pictorial works, -Bibliography, etc.).
- the heading for the institution where the collection is currently housed, if it has been donated or sold by the original owner.
- the name heading for the collection if the collection has a proper name.

Note: Partial title added entries were formerly made to bring out the name by which a collection is known if this name appeared embedded in the title of the work being cataloged. That practice is no longer followed.

The following examples illustrate the headings to be assigned for each title shown. The order of the headings has been determined by the nature of the work cataloged and the classification number that would be assigned to it, using the general guidelines presented in H 80.
