This exercise consisted of five resources, for which you were asked to identify attributes for the corporate bodies. Identifying the attributes is the first step, and putting those attributes into the authority record for the corporate bodies is the second step. The exercise is subjective and relies on cataloger’s judgment—there are no right or wrong answers, at least in terms of identifying the attributes. So for this answer sheet, I used a ranking system for the attributes, as indicated below. See Answer Sheet 6.b for suggested authority records that include the authorized access points and the attributes in MARC coding.

The Walt Disney Family Museum was conceived to present the real story of Walt Disney, the man, told by him and others who knew him well. The Museum is located in the Presidio of San Francisco, a former U.S. Army base and now a National Park. The three buildings that house the Museum are on the National Register of Historic Places.

Wikipedia:

The Walt Disney Family Museum is an American museum that features the life and legacy of Walt Disney. The museum is located in The Presidio of San Francisco, part of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area in San Francisco. The Museum retrofitted and expanded three existing historic buildings on the Presidio’s Main Post. The principal building, at 104 Montgomery Street, faces the Parade Ground, and opened on October 1, 2009.
The National Resource Center for The First-Year Experience and Students in Transition hosts professional development events including conferences, institutes, and workshops each year to address current trends, issues, and high impact practices affecting college students in transition. The Annual Conference on The First-Year Experience focuses on first-year student programs and initiatives. The Center also offers two other annual meetings. The National Conference on Students in Transition addresses issues beyond the first year and the International Conference on The First-Year Experience provides an international forum for discussion of the first college year. National institutes are held annually on specific topics related to student learning, development, and success.

About Page:

The International Society for Theoretical Psychology (ISTP) is an international forum for theoretical, meta-theoretical and philosophical discussions in psychology, with a focus on contemporary psychological debates. Founded in the early 1980s, its objective is to stimulate theoretical arguments and innovations, to foster integration across areas and traditions of research, and to promote interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary approaches to psychological questions. It aims to serve as the stage for the discussion of new theoretical ideas and innovations.
conceptual frameworks, for the critical engagement of different theoretical approaches, and for discussions concerning the relation of theoretical psychology to other disciplines, to the history of psychology and to the philosophy of knowledge. Conferences are held biennially, and since its first, founding conference in Plymouth (England), ISTP conferences have been in Banff (Canada), Arnhem (The Netherlands), Worcester (USA), Paris (France), Ottawa (Canada), Berlin (Germany), Calgary (Canada), Sydney (Australia), Istanbul (Turkey), Cape Town (South Africa), Toronto (Canada), Nanjing (China), with the next conference being in Thessaloniki (Greece) in 2011.
