Taxonomy Mapping Projects

How do content managers provide integrated access to multiple databases, each indexed using different thesauri or taxonomy schemes? How do catalogers determine equivalent terms, classes or identifiers to support parallel subject systems? Join the FLICC Content Management Working Group as they host three presentations about real, live projects to integrate multiple taxonomies or subject schemes to facilitate access to varied databases; then join in group discussions of these and other projects affecting federal library systems. The program presenters and their projects are

- Carolyn Tilley, National Library of Medicine
Using the Unified Medical Language System
- Julianne Beall, Library of Congress/OCLC Dewey Services
Linking the Dewey Decimal Classification to LC Classification and Subject Headings
- Jan Herd, Library of Congress Science & Business Division
Classification Web demo on LC Subject Headings and Classifications
- Jerri Knihnicky, Army Knowledge Online
Mapping Internal Army databases
