FEDLINK Presents:

Computing the Uncomputable A conversation with Dr. Stephen Wolfram

Stephen Wolfram is the creator of Wolfram|Alpha, a computational knowledge engine, and of Mathematica, the standard software language and environment for scientific, technical, and algorithmic computation, and algorithmic software development. He is also the author of A New Kind of Science and CEO of Wolfram Research.

Join your colleagues as Dr. Wolfram builds on the deep technology stacks associated with Mathematica, Wolfram|Alpha, and the advances of his research, and then answers questions on where he anticipates new directions in science and technology.
