This survey of the contents of the 1929-1949 Editor & Publisher International Year Books consists of two parts: a page-by-page selective transcription of the material in the Year Books and a selective index to the contents (topics, names, and titles) of the Year Books. The purpose of this document is to inform researchers about the contents of the E&P Year Books in order to help them determine if the Year Books will be useful in their work. Secondly, creating this document has helped me, a reference librarian in the Newspaper & Current Periodical Room at the Library of Congress, to learn about the Year Books so that I can provide better service to researchers.

The transcript was created by examining the Year Books and recording the items on each page in page number order. Advertisements for individual newspapers and specific companies involved in the mechanical aspects of newspaper operations were not recorded in the transcript of contents or added to the index.

The index (beginning on page 33) attempts to provide access to E&P Year Books by topics, names, and titles of columns, comic strips, etc., which appeared on the pages of the Year Books or were mentioned in syndicate and feature service ads. The headings are followed by references to the years and page numbers on which the heading appears. The individual Year Books have detailed indexes to their contents. Although this index does not provide the same detail for the general contents as the original individual volume indexes do, it does bring indexing from 1929-1949 together, provides detailed access to the names and titles mentioned in feature and syndicate advertisements, and associates terms which evolved over time (such as “Chain-Owned Newspapers” which became “Newspaper Chains” and later “Newspaper Groups”).

In the original volume indexes of the Year Books some contents are referred to as being located in the “News Section” which means the item is within the pages (numbered with Roman numerals) of the Editor & Publisher issue in which the Year Book was included—Year Books were issued as a regular issue of the weekly E&P publication, usually in January. These “News Section” pages were not bound with the separate E&P Year Book volumes in the Library of Congress collection.
Indexes for the regular issues of Editor & Publisher were produced twice each year—one covering January-June and the second covering July-December (see: E&P International Year Book, January 25, 1936, p. 188).

Recommended uses of this resource

The E&P Year Books contain a wide variety of information about journalism, journalists, advertising, and the newspaper publishing business. Here are some uses of this resource.

A researcher is looking for the work of a columnist that was published in the Hearst newspapers during 1944. Each volume of the E&P Year Book has a list of newspaper chains and the newspapers that belonged to each chain. Look in the index section for the heading “Newspaper Chains of the U.S. & Canada” to find the location within the E&P Year Books of the list of newspaper chains.

Who were the members of the Congressional Press Gallery in 1938 and what organizations did they represent? Check the index under the heading “Congressional Press Gallery.” This entry will show the location within the Year Books of the list of members of the Congressional Press Gallery and the organizations they represented.

Who was the book review editor for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch in 1947? The Year Books contain a section which lists the department editors of U.S. and Canadian newspapers. The locations of these lists are under the heading “Department Editors of U.S. & Canadian Newspapers” in the index. Answer: Irving Dillard.

What newspapers were published in tabloid format? See the index heading “Tabloid Newspapers.” Which newspapers distributed the “American Weekly,” “Parade,” or “This Week” magazine supplements? Try the “Newspaper Magazine Sections” index heading. To actually find the answers to these questions you will need to see the appropriate Year Book, but this resource will help guide you to the location of the answer.

You get the idea. Take a look--I hope you find this to be a useful resource.

*E&P International Year Book began in 1921. Year books beginning with 1936 are in the Newspaper & Current Periodical Room Reference Collection. Volumes for other years are bound with issues of Editor & Publisher and are in the Library’s General Collection. Volumes for 1921-1928 and 1932 have not been located at the Library of Congress.

An additional resource at the Library of Congress for research on early newspaper cartoons, comic strips, and columnists is the Copyright Registration file. Located in the Copyright Office at the Library of Congress, these records (prior to 1978) are currently in the original paper format. After 1978 records are searchable on the Copyright website.
