INDIANS WHO REFUSE TO BE CIVILIZED

Tribe of Chippewas in Northeastern Corner of Minnesota Who Live as Did Their Ancestors Before the White Man's Coming—Other Tribes in the State Resigned Readily to the Government's Efforts to Better Their Condition.

This civilization of the Chippewas is an old story. Those who live in the northern part of the state are the descendants of a tribe which the government has recognized and which has a treaty with the United States. The Chippewas are a hardy people, and they have given the country a great deal of trouble. They have been known to take up arms in defense of their homes, and they have been known to resist the efforts of the government to make them conform to the laws of the land. The Chippewas are not a people who are easily governed, and they are not easily satisfied. They are not satisfied with the way they are living, and they are not satisfied with the way they are being governed.

Did You Ever

Stop to compare the different telephone services of today with the telephone service furnished before the Tela City Telephone Company entered the field? It is much more convenient. We Did It.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Alton of New Ulm, who celebrated their Golden Wedding last Tuesday.

http://chroniclingamerica.loc.gov/lccn/sn90059523/1903-12-20/ed-1/seq-38/

http://loc.gov/teachers/

Library of Congress